

BOOTY Luv babes Nadia Stephenson, 26, and Cherise Roberts, 23, blew £2,500 on champagne to celebrate their debut hit. Dance track Boogie 2Nite is set for the Top 5 this weekend and the ex Big Brovaz singers tell me: "We've had an early celebration!"

THE Storys are gutted after frontman Steve Balsamo, 35, had his BlackBerry stolen. The gadget contains lyrics for their debut album, due out early 2007. A spokesperson said: "He'd appreciate whoever took it to please send it back." The Storys play Wembley Arena on Sunday with Katie Melua, 22.

THAT'S FINE BY LIFERS

WESTLIFE won't hold any hard feelings against Take That for knocking them off No 1 this weekend.

The reformed manband are on course for the main spot, which will mean pushing the Loife's Love Album down the Top 5. Mark Feehily, 26, told me: "Take That inspired us to create Westlife. I watched their comeback tour DVD recently as I was disappointed I couldn't get to see them."

"It was fantastic and I still admire them. They make amazing music. I'd love us to collaborate with them - but I can't see it ever happening."

KEISHA'S A WAISTER

SUGABABES have clearly been taking style-tips from Simon Cowell, 47.

Why else would Keisha Buchanan, 22, clad herself in a pair of ludicrously high-waisted shorts? The Hot fashion police are upset by this slip in their normally faultless wardrobe. Ladies, this madness must stop now.

Jerry's fantastic win

DELIGHTED contest winner Jerry Moher has picked up the keys to his spanking new van – thanks to your Daily Star.

And smiling Jerry, 35, says the vehicle is his great white hope as his own van has been off the road. He is now the proud owner of an Italian-designed Euro 4 Iveco Daily 35S12, right, and he says it is just the biz.

The dad-of-one has a second child due in April with partner Lisa Miles, 26. They already have a son Patrick, one.

■ by CAMERON MILLAR

Jerry, of Bagshot, Surrey, says the van's huge load capacity could even be useful for storing baby gear.

He said: "I had a 10-year-old Ford Transit but it broke down and has been off the road for seven weeks."

"Winning this Iveco means I don't have to save up for a new van. And it's much more up-to-date as well. I'm getting a lift to work with a colleague, so I can't wait to get my own van again."

Jerry said persistence paid off when it came to winning – he had also entered our campervan giveaways in the summer.

Halal burgers for Muslims

McDONALD'S may soon be selling halal Big Macs in Britain to cater for Muslims.

Bosses say they are seriously considering the idea to boost sales among the UK's Islamic community.

But the move has sparked concern among animal welfare experts opposed to halal methods of slaughtering.

Islamic law demands that animals are killed with a single cut to the throat.

But the Farm Action Welfare Council bitterly opposes the technique, saying it causes severe suffering to animals.

tries. Britain would only be the second non-Muslim country after Australia to sell halal burgers, although bosses will be hoping to avoid the controversy encountered Down Under when non-Muslims complained they were not informed their burgers were halal.

Steve Easterbrook, McDonald's UK president and chief executive, said: "It is a complicated area and there are some serious questions we need to ask about animal welfare and preparing halal meat."

But a Church of England spokesman said it was crucial that McDonald's offered Brits a choice. And Inayat Bunglawala, of the Muslim Council of Britain, said: "If they think there is a need for halal burgers that is good."

SPACE IS MAN'S FINAL FRONTIER

We're doomed without it

TOP boffin Stephen Hawking warned mankind yesterday: "We're all doomed!"

The wheelchair-bound professor said humans must set up home on other planets - or face extinction. We need Star Trek-style WARP drive propulsion systems to take us to other solar systems or face nightmare consequences on Earth.

"Sooner or later disasters such as an asteroid collision or a nuclear war could wipe us all out," said the Cambridge University prof. "But once we spread out into space and establish independent colonies, our future should be safe."

The world-renowned cosmologist believes scientific advances could soon revolutionise the speed of space travel.

Hawking, 64, said propulsion like that used by Star Trek's Starship Enterprise can help save us.

The muscular dystrophy sufferer also revealed he wants to try space travel himself, adding: "Maybe Richard Branson will help me do it."

Nick's set for a star role

DR Nicholas Patrick will become the fourth Brit in space when he blasts off with six others from Kennedy Space Center, Florida, next week.

The shuttle Discovery's mission is to expand the International Space Station and rewire its electrical systems.

The former Cambridge

OFF: Discovery University engineering graduate, 42, from Saltburn, North Yorks, expects several "how did I get here?" moments on the mission.

"I think the first one's going to be on the launch pad when they strap me in and close the door and I'm going to say: 'Oh my goodness, am I really off to space?'"

"And when the rockets light, I'll know I am."

Net yourself a slice of Hollywood history at top movie auction

WIZARD AUCTION

THE Cowardly Lion costume from The Wizard of Oz is set to fetch £300,000.

More than 900 pieces of Hollywood history, worth more than £1.7million, are going under the hammer in a movie memorabilia internet auction.

And top draw is the lion outfit made from real lion skins and worn by Bert Lahr.

Props

The costume was thought to have been lost after filming finished and was not seen for 39 years until it was found in a barn in California with other props in 1968.

It is being sold through an eBay auction starting on December 14 by Hollywood memorabilia company Profiles In History with

by JAMES WICKHAM

an estimate of £200,000-£300,000. Spokeswoman Lorna Hart said: "The Lion costume is one of the most coveted pieces ever."

Also on sale is Elvis Presley's diamond and platinum wedding ring from his marriage to Priscilla - priced at £50,000 to £100,000.

James Dean's switchblade knife from Rebel Without A Cause, a Harrison Ford signed photo from Star Wars, Arnold Schwarzenegger's leather biker jacket from Terminator and the scary special effects shark fin from Jaws are all set to do well - with prices running into the thousands - as are dozens of Marilyn Monroe rings, posters and autographs.

Oi, you're nicked pal

by JAMES WICKHAM

TRAFFIC wardens turned on their own kind yesterday. As our picture shows, this "parking professional" in Doncaster, South Yorks, did not hesitate when he saw a colleague's vehicle parked in the wrong bay.

The take-no-prisoners ticketmeister slapped a penalty notice on the car, even though it was clearly marked "Doncaster Council" and "Parking Enforcement".

A passer-by said: "I was a bit shocked when I saw what he did. I guess this means they even hate each other."

MEG BEATS A103MPH DRIVE RAP ..thanks to Mr Loophole

by TERRY MONKS

A SPEEDING case against Noel Gallagher's ex-wife was dropped yesterday thanks to celebrity lawyer Nick Freeman.

Meg Mathews, 40, had been due to appear before magistrates to answer allegations that she was driving her Porsche at 103mph.

But Mr Freeman, 50, nicknamed Mr Loophole, pointed out that police had failed to issue her with the "appropriate form".

Test

As a result Meg - who was divorced from 39-year-old Noel in 2002 - was not even required to appear before Thetford magistrates in Norfolk.

The court list showed she was originally accused of driving at 103mph in a 70mph limit area on the A11 dual carriageway at Bridgham, near Thetford, last February.

She is believed to have been travelling from London to see her parents, who live near Cromer.

A spokesman for the Crown Prosecution Service said: "The case in question obviously did not pass this test for prosecution and the case was therefore discontinued."

"In this case the appropriate form had not been served on the defendant,

NO CASE: Meg Mathews and, inset, Nick Freeman which meant that the case cannot be proved."

Mr Freeman boasts TV presenter Tiff Needell and football icons David Beckham, Wayne Rooney and Sir Alex Ferguson among his clients.

Last month Mr Freeman was arrested on allegations that he was involved in a conspiracy to pervert the course of justice. Details of the allegations have not emerged but Mr Freeman has said he is "totally innocent."

He lives in a £3.8million home in Mere, Cheshire, with his wife Stephanie and their two children.

SEX-STARVED Brits desperate for action between the sheets should head to the South West.

It is the orgasm capital of the UK, according to a new survey.

Lucky locals – who include Bristol-born model Sophie Anderton, 29 – have the most per day, with 33% admitting having climaxed in the previous 24 hours.

But folk in Northern Ireland – home to Big Brother babe Orlaith McAllister, 26 – are the most frustrated, with 5% saying they have never reached orgasm.

Skills

An average of 40% of us rate ourselves as good in bed. Londoners are the most big-headed – 64% describing themselves as outstanding.

The Northern Irish are the least confident, with just 41% happy with their performance.

The Welsh and those in the South West aren't much better off – 43% have confidence in their skills.

But a super-sexed 20% of Brits claim they've got nothing left to learn in the bedroom. And single-

by NADINE LINGE

tons have more fun – 74% rate themselves highly in the sack, compared with just 44% of married couples.

Two-thirds say their last climax was with a partner, while a lonely third are doing it for themselves.

And it's the Welsh who are more likely to make sex a DIY effort, according to the research for a podcast by sex expert Emily Dubberley on website Audible.co.uk.

Emily said: "As a nation, we are obviously enjoying sex more than ever.

But we're still clearly far too reluctant to talk about it and solve any difficulties we have in the bedroom.

RATING GAME: But we're still far too shy which is ruining our confidence and enjoyment.

"It is sad that the longer a relationship goes on, the more the spark seems to fade – and that is when having a route to find more information to help us out comes in handy."

The survey revealed that 2% of all Brits say they've never had an orgasm, while 10% haven't had one for a year.

One in five married couples admitted their last was achieved alone.

Climax

And despite the Sex And The City-fuelled craze for using sex toys such as the Rampant Rabbit, just 4.5% of Brits said they used one to climax.

Those in Northern Ireland are most likely to get a buzz, with 10% using one.

And the same percentage of Brits love saucy role-playing – although women are twice as likely as men to dress up.

GROPER: Stepniowski

'Polish Borat' caged

A POLISH factory worker said he groped women in a Brit town because it was allowed in his homeland.

Thomasz Stepniowski approached four women in Weymouth, Dorset, and fondled their breasts or pinched their bottoms.

He was caught when one of his victims told police and they found CCTV footage of him.

The case led to Stepniowski, 25, being labelled the "Polish Borat" after the fictional Kazakh TV presenter played by Sacha Baron Cohen, 35. Stepniowski was jailed for nine months at Dorchester Crown Court.

Who kill

JOB: Ice cream man.
RELATIONSHIP: Employee of Tom and brother of Dawn Hope, who was killed in house collapse.
MOTIVE: Revenge. Blames the Kings for the death of Dawn.
PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS: None.

Q: What did you do when you found out Tom had been murdered?
A: I panicked. I thought I might be a suspect because I'd been at Home Farm, so I burned my clothes. I was worried forensics could place me at the scene. I know it was a stupid thing to do.
Q: If you didn't do it, who did?
A: I don't know. I couldn't have been Dad though. He doesn't have it in him.
Q: Did Tom deserve to die?
A: Nobody deserves to die, not even him. I don't think whoever did it intended to kill him.

JOB: Barmaid.
RELATIONSHIP: She's his son Carl's ex-fiancée.
MOTIVE: Tom paid her to leave Home Farm by threatening to disinherit son Carl.
PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS: Arrested for indecency, May 2004.

Q: What did you do when you found out about the murder?
A: When I got to the Woolpack, news had spread. I was gobsmacked. I wanted to go and check Carl was OK. But Zak said I should stay put.
Q: Can anyone verify what time you arrived?
A: Diane, probably.
Q: Who do you think murdered Tom?
A: Rosemary. She's an evil cow and I don't believe she loved Tom. Mind you, I also saw Terry loitering around.
Q: Did Tom deserve to die?
A: I wanted him to pay, but I didn't kill him.

JOB: Partner in King & Sons.
RELATIONSHIP: Son and business partner of victim.
MOTIVE: Tom previously cut him off from the family and business during his relationship with Sadie. He threatened to cut Matthew out of his will.
PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS: None.

Q: What did you do when you found Tom had been murdered?
A: I heard a crash, raced outside and saw him lying there. I couldn't believe it.
Q: Who do you think did it?
A: Rosemary for sure. I knew all along she was only after his money. I tried to tell him, but he wouldn't listen. He was a bloody-minded sod.
Q: Did your father deserve to die?
A: Of course not. We had our disagreements, but I'll certainly be taking over the business now he's gone.
